This statement explains how we may collect and use information about you through our website.

As you would expect, we may monitor visits to our website, principally so that we can make sure that it is easy to navigate, identify the areas that are of particular interest to visitors and generally improve the site and our services.

Any information that we may collect in this process will not identify you as an individual, however we do not seek to identify individual visitors unless they volunteer their contact details through one of the forms on the site. In some circumstances our records will identify organisations visiting our site and we may use that information in managing our relationship with those organisations for example, in considering how to develop the services that we offer them. In common with most websites, our site uses cookies -- small data files which are downloaded to your computer so that we can recognise that your computer has visited the site before. We do not use cookies to identify you, just to improve your experience of the site for example, by allowing the site to remember your bookmarks and language preference. You can if you wish set your Internet browser so that it will not automatically download cookies -- this will not prevent you from using our site but may result in certain features not to function as designed.

Various forms on our site may invite you to submit your contact details and other information about yourself or your organisation, or to send us emails which will, of course, also identify you. If you have consented to receiving and we use your details to send you information from GENTLE GROUND Pte Ltd about events or professional developments which we believe may be of interest to you (other than information that you have specifically requested), we will give you an opportunity to tell us that you do not wish to receive such information. Please review of PDPA Policy, the terms of which are incorporated herein, can be found here.
